

The Extracurricular Activities Programme we propose presents a wide range of options in response to the interests of pupils at these stages. They aim to stimulate your children's creativity, develop their skills and occupy their leisure time in a constructive way. They also seek to promote inter- and intra-personal values such as equality, respect and self-esteem, which are part of the school's philosophy. They are, therefore, an ideal complement to the educational curricular programmes of the school, playing a fundamental role in the integral formation of the pupils. The organisation of the programme allows the activities to be carried out during school hours, encouraging participation.
